Decent but short. I got this is part of a $2 bundle of games and it was worth it, but I'm not so sure about $20USD. I reckon it is worth $5USD.

For a point and click adventure, this is fairly well done and if you're feeling nostalgic about Goosebumps it is doubly good.

There are a few "what the hell do I do now?" moments but otherwise it flows relatively logically.. The game is wonderful to look at visually. The artwork is cartoony but doesn't take away from the spooky atmosphere. Some puzzles seem a bit cryptic but you could argue just like the books 'Give Yourself Goosebumps' you need to think outside the box from time to time to solve specific puzzles.. very basic. reminds me of a 90's computer game. An old-fashioned Point&Click game with a non-linear solution.

There are clues on what to do next in the gameworld, but without using a walkthrough this can be quite a stretch. It's not very scary, but it has lots of nostalgia.. You at the mall

- Inspect Wok the tiger diner
- It says slogan for Wok the tiger is Gourmet chinese food is just a wok away (puns already)
- You say: A wok somewhere else probably (BURRRRRNEEEED)
- Back out of room to find yourself beaten to death by a robot policeman

10/10 Would goosebumps the game again. I love this game's aesthetic. It has the feel of those point and click style 1990s pc games. The story can get a little slow and boring in parts, but overall I think this is a great challenging kid's game.. What a blast from the past. This is a really well made point and click adventure in the realm of Goosebumps. Those of you who grew up in the 90's will know this title by tv and book. Although not exactly a challenge to complete, I had a lot of fun reliving the shallow tense effect that was meant to scare children just enough not to give them nightmares.

The only issue I had was getting bored near the end of the game as it does tend to drag a bit.

Ready to be in middle school again (if you are out of middle school)? Even being the age where I could have children in middle school (I don't) I still had a lot of fun with this game. I was obsessed with R.L. Stine- goosebumps and fear street when I was in middle school, so I have the experience and background despite being ancient.

Art: 8/10 - The art holds nicely to the style of book covers, which is nice and reminiscent. It's not beautiful but correctly stylized for this kind of game, complete with lovely toxic green ooze. Also they didn't skimp on the backgrounds, I like that.

Story: 8/10 – I traveled back to tweenhood in a good way. R.L. Stein has not lost his knack for writing correctly for his audience. I loved one of the lines that said something along the lines of stickers on lockers are the only thing more permanent than tattoos, sounds like something I would believe in middle school (even now that it sounds so silly) The only thing I had a problem with is the end, it was kind a little too silly even for the goosebumps world if you ask me.

Game Mechanics: 9/10 – There is two mechanics in this game that I have always wanted in adventure games in this one. First you can pick up so much useless junk. I always want to do this, when I take a yellow cotton candy, why can't I take all of the colors? I don't like not being able to have variety even if the majority of it is stuff I won't use. You never know when you need a voodoo head or a blue rose from your neighbor's yard or maybe even a crumpled up note on the school hallway floor. The other thing I liked is how you can die a lot. I mean not blood and gore dying but I like how you can make dumb choices that lead to untimely death. What would a goosebumps game be without ultimate doom waiting at the end of some choices?

Positive: The whole feel of the game, great for a goosebumps fan!

Negative: Music, it was pretty unremarkable as I already forgot every track except for Chad's theme (because it was funny). I didn't even bother to rate it. I also felt it was a bit short but I am biased to longer stories (also I am not a middle schooler and I have a much longer attention span.

TLDR (Or if you are in middle school) You like goosebumps? Play this game.. Fun nostalgic game for Goosebumpers.. Not very many games scare me anymore, the final jumpscare of Goosebumps made me jump out of my seat, 10/10 would spook again. I don't think I've ever played a point and click adventure game this confusing before. WayForward please stick to platformers. It's what you're good at. Hardcore Fans of Goosebumps or Old-School 1st Person Adventure Games only. Otherwise you will get infuriated. At least the atmosphere and essence of a horror game is here.. Since I didn't grow up in America, I never actually read any of the books, but I did watch the Goosebumps TV series, and this definitely brought back some memories! There's even something nostalgic about how this game uses point and click, and I love it! If you get stuck in the game, you can watch my walkthrough for some help!

The atmosphere in this game is captivating, and the story is intriguing. I find it a bit weird how calm my character is able to stay, even though he is seeing ghosts, and random people in his house. I feel like I would call the cops, but who am I to judge! I also like that if you die, you literally just respawn in the previous room, without having to replay a big portion of the game. That gives the player more confidence to look around and take chances, and really get immersed in the game. This is a game I would definitely recommend!. this game it just amazing if you are a hard core goosebumps fan then is the game for you.

edit: is well polished nostalgia cash grab. I love this game. It's really fun and I like how difficult some of the puzzles are. 10/10 would get killed by Slappy again. This game is one of my favorite games ive gotten on steam because i love it's characters like beast from the east and slappy and other characters it has been my favorite book seiries since i was 5 years old and i love it because its basicly a puzzle game the hardest parts were distracting slappy the lawn nome part the amount of money you have to make in cavity city but the ost hardest part was making the photo of the kids head to get a rook(chess peice) my favorite part was...EVERY THING.. Its a classic type game where you can find things and put it in your inventory and use it later on in the game and you get to explore new places. If you do not like classic type games I wouldn't buy this but overall it's good.
